If there isn't enough earned interest to cover the charge, then we take it from the balance in the account.

Remember, if you withdraw your savings, they'll lose their tax-free status unless you transfer them to another ISA (see below).

To transfer your ISA savings to another ISA provider

- Give your transfer instructions to your new ISA provider. They'll carry out the ISA transfer for you
- Don't transfer ISA savings yourself (using a normal transfer) because the money will lose its tax-free status
- If you transfer the savings in your Fixed Rate Cash ISA before it matures, we make a charge – see above

What happens when the ISA matures

- We'll write to you prior to maturity to let you know your options
- At maturity, if you don't give us any instructions, we'll automatically transfer the money in this account to our Matured Funds Access ISA. We'll send you details of the Matured Funds Access ISA when we write to you before the maturity date

Note: you're only allowed to pay in money which counts towards your annual ISA allowance into one Cash ISA each tax year. This means that if you open this Cash ISA, you can't open another Cash ISA during this tax year, even if you haven't paid in your full annual ISA allowance into this ISA.

This is a strictly limited issue and can be withdrawn at any time. Once withdrawn, there is a limited window to make any deposits or transfers into the ISA and any funds received after this time will be returned. We will not contact you to let you know when the Fixed Rate Cash ISA is withdrawn.

'Tax-free' means you're not liable to UK Income Tax or Capital Gains Tax on the interest earned. The value of tax benefits we describe depends on individual circumstances. The tax treatment of ISAs could change in the future.
